

IMMEDIATE THREAT RECOGNITION MATRIX

Your Primary Authority: Deciding "Is it safe for ME to enter?"

If a condition is marked RED, you are under a non-negotiable operational mandate to EXIT AND REPORT.

Threat Category	YELLOW FLAG (Proceed with extreme caution/Distance)	RED FLAG (EXIT IMMEDIATELY)
Human Behavioral	Pacing, heavy breathing, flushed complexion, avoidant eye contact, yelling	Clenched fists, verbal threats, weapon present (e.g., gun in waistband), violating personal space, targeting inanimate objects
Environmental (Chemical)	Windows blackened or covered in foil; excessive trash like cold medicine packs or stained coffee filters	Strong chemical odors (ammonia, ether, acetone, or "cat urine"); hissing sounds near gas meters; smell of "rotten eggs"
Structural	Small vertical cracks in foundation; warped siding; minor ceiling stains	Ridgeline dipping in a "U" shape; sagging roof (18+ inches); floor soft spots; charred wood/rafters from fire
Biological/ Animal	"Beware of Dog" signs; dog house present; overgrown vegetation	Roaming aggressive dogs; bees flying in a straight "beeline" toward a wall cavity; visible trip wires or booby traps

FIELD RESPONSE PROTOCOL

Yellow Flags: Increase your distance from the threat. Use verbal de-escalation techniques (see Resource 2). Position yourself near your vehicle exit path. Do not turn your back on the threat.

Red Flags: Immediately retreat to your vehicle. Lock doors. Drive away from the property. Document the encounter from a safe location. Contact your coordinator immediately. Do NOT return to the property without explicit authorization and safety measures.

YOUR SAFETY > THE JOB
No inspection is worth injury, arrest, or death. When in doubt, GET OUT.
